Like Prehistoric Dwellings.

M. Henneberg, a great silk manafacturer, who recently relired from business, has built for himself on Lake Constance a habitation exactly after the model of a prehistoric lake dwelling shown in the Zurich museum. The building, which is about 200 feet off the coast of the lake, rests upon piles a few vards above the level of the water. It consists of only one room, and its framework is made from the wood of the vew tree. Around this room a gallery extends of a width of some five or seven feet. The wall consists of willow wickerwork and mud plaster, the floor of hard mud and plaited willow, and the ceiling of pressed straw The walls are ornamented with designs High Class Work drawn with coal and bullock's

The Toreador Was "Game."

The death of the famous Span sh toreador, Reverte, recalls to the ondon Globe one of the mosirilling incidents ever witnessed in e arena. It was at Bayonne. Aftr disposing of two bulls, Revert ad twice plunged his sword into third, of great strength and fe ocity, and as the beast continue areering wildly, the spectators bean to hiss Reverte for bungling. Vounded to the very quick of his ride, the Spaniard shouted, "Ti-ull is slain!" and, throwing aside is sword, sank on one knee wit olded arms in the middle of the ing. He was right, but he ha ot allowed for the margin of acident. The wounded beast charged ull upon him, but the matador plendid to the last, knelt motioness as a statue, while the spectators eld their breath in horrified sussense. Reaching his victim, the bull literally bounded at him, and s he sprang he sank in death, with is last ecort giving one fearfu' unge of the head that drove a hor. into the thigh of the kneeling man and laid bare the bone from the nee to the joint. Still Revert ever flinched, but remained kneelng, exultant in victory, but calm'y ontemptuous of applause, till h. vas carried away to heal him of is grievous wound.

Progress of Medical Women.

It will surprise many readers to e told, on the authority of Dr. Catherine G. Townsend, writing in he October Everybody's Magazine hat the average number of medi al women graduates each year is about 900, and it is estimated that here are nearly 6000 women physiians practicing in this country. ears ago a medical woman had s hard time to make ends meet with the proceeds of her labor. At this period each large city will show the names of several who are earning ive, ten, fifteen and twenty thouand dollars annually. Fifty-five voman physician. Colleges would ot graduate them; men abominated them, and women had a contempt for them. Elizabeth Blackwell was he first woman to gain a diploma rom a medical college. She was raduated from Hohart college, Geneva, N. Y., in 1849, but it was not until she had applied to twelve colleges that the "sacred" portals were open to her.

Politics and Prayers.

The following dialogue is said to have occurred between a big Tammany politician and one of his 'men" on a Sunday morning when Van Wyck was running things, It may have a bearing on the incoming administration:" Charley, how to we stand? Across Atlantic in Small Boat.

Captain Ludwig Eisenbran claims the distinction of havin skippered the smallest craft tha ever sailed across the Atlantic. The voyage was made single handed in a nineteen-foot centerboard boat called Columbia II., and the passage occupied fifty-six days from Halifax, Nova Scotia, to Madeira The frail little boat and her plucky captain were severely buffeted by the rollers of the North Atlantic and during a heavy gale in midocean Columbia II. was badly knocked about. Her rudder and tiller, a sea anchor and a watch used in the navigation of the boat was carried away. All his provisions were also spoiled, and the captain entered in his log that "he lost verything but hope." The British steamer Greenbriar was spoken and the watch replaced and a fresh supply of provisions and water taken in board. On another occasion the adventurer reports that he collided with a sleeping whale, fortunately however, without any serious consequences. Columbia II., which will probably proceed to London and thence to the St. Louis Exposiboa, and is nineteen feet long by ix feet beam. She draws only ten iches of water, and carried a mainsail and foresail only. Captain Eisenbraun originally started from losten with a 'cre ... but the crew which consisted of one man, refused to accompany the captain farther than Halifara.

Naturalizing a Russian.

England is always glad to get another citizen, but sometimes she goes about it in a strange manner, according to the Springfield Republican. A sailor recently deserted from a Russian battleship and joined an English crew on a faraway island. He told them that he was tired of the rule of the czar and wanted to become an English citizen. They were at a loss how to naturalize him, but finally each one threw a bucket off the Russian.

Decorating Berlin Schools.

The committee of the Berlin town council in charge of the primary schools have taken a novel spend 10,000 marks every year for eight years, with the object of painting frescoes on the walls of classrooms and corridors. These pictures will be simple in character and will represent for the most part scenes in German history. Before, however, the plan can be carried out, experiments will be made in three selected schools.

The Pope to Be Free.

Rumor has it in Turir that Pope Pius X. does not intend to remain "the prisoner of the Vatican" like ais two predecessors. It is aid that some time next fall he will come out of retirement and will even leave Rome for a time. This is believed to be in accord with the views of what is known as the Venetian party in the Vatican. Final decision in the matter has not yet been reached. The Roman party in the college of cardinals is much opposed to such a step, but Pius X is a very determined man.
